

The background of the cover is a microscopic image of neurons. Two large, glowing orange-yellow cell bodies (soma) are prominent, with numerous thin, branching dendrites and axons extending outwards. The image has a dark, blue-toned background with some bokeh light effects. A white ECG (heart rate) line is superimposed horizontally across the lower third of the image.

Dariusz Kozłowski

Jak interpretować EKG w neurologii

część IV - migotanie przedsionków